WORKED ONLY FOR IRELAND

Viscount Reading, Lord Chief Justice of England, with the black cloth by tradition called a cap spread over his head, and his two associates in scarlet gowns, like-wise black-capped, pronounced the sentence of death for high treason on Sir Roger Casement half an hour after the foreman of the jury, in a shaking voice, gave the verdict of guilty. Sir Roger addressed the court, reading the final statement with the explanation that he wished it might reach a much larger audience than the one before him, and particularly the people of America, from whom had come many nieces of sympathy to him and whose own struggle for liberty, he said, always had been an inspiration to Irishmen.

Sir Roger's auditors, among whom were Viscount Bryce and many other prominent men and women, listened in deepest silence, some moved to tears. The prisoner declared he did not regard the trial by Englishmen in an English court as a trial by his peers, to which he was entitled. He reviewed recent events in Ireland from the beginning of the formation of the Ulster Volunteers, and said:

"We have seen the constitutional army refuse to obey the constitutional government and we were told the first duty of Irishmen was to enter that army. If small nations were to be the first consideration I saw no reason why Ireland should shed any blood for any people but her own. If that be treason I am not ashamed to avow it here. If the Unionists chose the road they thought would lead to the good side, I knew my road led to the dark side. Both of us were right. So I am prouder to stand here, in a traitor's dock, than to fill the place of my accusers. Self-government is our right. It is no more a thing to be withheld from us or doled out to us than the right to life or light, to sunshine or spring flowers. Throwing aside his manuscript, Sir Roger said: "My Lords, I have done. Gentlemen of the jury, I wish to thank you for your verdict. I meant no reflection upon you when I said this was not a trial by my peers."

The verdict was not a surprise. His counsel will take an immediate appeal to the Criminal Court of Appeals, and then to the House of Lords, if necessary, because they feel that the point of law involving a statute 500 years old, under which Sir Roger was tried, never has been legally tested. There were numerous striking sentences in Sir Roger's speech.

"There is an objection, possibly not good in law, but surely good on moral grounds," he said, "against the application to me here of this old English statute, 565 years old, that seeks to deprive an Irishman today of his life and his honor, not for adhering to the King's enemies, but for adhering to his own people. When this statute was passed in 1351, what was the state of men's minds on the question of a far higher allegiance, that of man to God and his kingdom? The law of that day did not permit him to forsake his church or deny his God save his life. The heretic then had the same doom as the traitor. Today a man may forswear God and his heavenly realm without fear or penalty, all earlier statutes having gone the way of Nero's edicts against the Christians; but that constitutional phantom, the King, can still dig up from the dungeon and torture chambers of the dark ages a law that takes a man's life and limb for an exercise of his conscience. If true religion rests on love, it is equally true that loyalty rests on love. The law I am charged under has no pretense in love, and claims that allegiance of today on the ignorance and blindness of the past. I am being tried, in truth, not by my peers of the living present, but by the fears of the dead past; not by the civilization of the twentieth century, but by the brutality of the fourteenth; not even by a statute framed in the language of the land that tries me, but emitted in the language of an enemy land, so antiquated is the law that must be sought today to slay an Irishman whose offense is that he puts Ireland first. Loyalty is a sentiment, not a law. It rests on love, not on restraint. The government of Ireland by England rests on restraint, not on law, and since it demands no love it can evoke no loyalty."

"This court, this jury, the public opinion of this country can not be prejudiced in varying degrees against me, most of all in time of war. I did not land in Ireland, I came to Ireland. I wanted to come, and the last place I desired to land was England. But for the Attorney General of England there is no Ireland; there is only England; there is no Ireland, only the law of England; no right of Ireland. Yet for me, the Irish out-law, there is a land of Ireland, a right of Ireland, a charter for all Irishmen to appeal to in the last resort, a charter that even the very statutes of England can not deprive me of, a charter that Englishmen themselves assert as a fundamental bond of law that connects the two kingdoms."

Referring to the phrase of the indictment that he set an evil example to others, Sir Roger said: "To Englishmen I set no evil example, for I made no appeal to them. I asked Irishmen to fight for their rights. Place me before a jury of my own countrymen, be it Protestant or Catholic, Unionist or Nationalist, Sinn Féin or Orange, and I shall accept the verdict and bow to the statute and all its penalties. It is not I who am afraid of the verdict of such a jury; it is the Crown. If this be not so, why fear the test? I fear it not; I demand it as my right. It was not I who landed in England, but the Crown that dragged me here, away from my own country, to which I had returned with a price upon my head, away from my own countrymen, whose loyalty is not in doubt, and safe from the judgment of my peers, whose judgment I do not shrink from. That is the condemnation of English law, that it dare not rest on the will of the Irish people, but exists in defiance of their will; that it is a rule derived, not from right, but from conquest. Conquest gives no title; it can exert no empire over man's reason and judgment and affections. It is from this law of conquest, without title to the reason, judgment and affections of my own countrymen, that I appeal." Having finished this statement, the prisoner said: "This much I penned in my prison fifteen days ago."

He then continued, declaring that the Nationalist volunteers founded in Dublin in November, 1913, had no quarrel with the Ulster volunteers born a year earlier, only with the men who sought "to pervert to English party use, to the mean purposes of their own bid for place and power the armed activities of the simple Irishmen. We aimed at winning the Ulster volunteers," he went on, "to the cause of a United Ireland. It was not the Irish volunteers who broke the law, but a British party government, who had permitted the Ulster volunteers to be armed by Englishmen, to threaten not only an English party in its hold on office but to threaten that party through the lives and blood of Irishmen. The battle was to be fought in Ireland, that the political out of today should be the ins of tomorrow. In Great Britain a law designed for the benefit of Ireland was to be met, not on the floor of Parliament, where the fight had been won, but on the field, with Irishmen slaying each other for English party gain. And the British navy would be chartered transports bringing to our shores a numerous assembly of military and military experts in the congealed and profitable business of holding down subject populations abroad. That party was preaching a doctrine of hatred, designed to bring civil war in Ireland, while the party in power took no steps to restrain its propaganda, which was finding advocates in the army, the navy, the Privy Council, in Parliament and State and Church."

CARDINAL MAKES APPEAL

Cardinal Farley, in a letter to the pastor in the archdiocese of New York, ordered that a collection for the Irish Relief Fund be taken up at every service next Sunday. His letter read in part:

"The punishment which England meted out so mercilessly by execution, imprisonment or deportation to hundreds, if not thousands, of fathers, husbands and sons, has fallen with extreme severity and dire misery on countless women and children. Christian charity imposes on us all, irrespective of race, but especially on those of Irish blood, the urgent duty of extending timely and substantial relief to the innocent victims of Ireland's latest affliction. Please read this appeal and add such words as your zeal and prudence dictate. It is hardly necessary to suggest that any reference, on this occasion, to the Irish question from a political viewpoint, would be unseemly and unwise."

HAD GLORIOUS DAY

The Catholic Orphan Society had a glorious Fourth of July, the picnic for St. Vincent and St. Thomas Asylum being a grand success. From noon till late at night the grounds were thronged with people, and when the returns are all in it is expected that a larger sum than that of last year will be realized.

GOOD WORK

American Federation of Catholic Societies Fifteen Years Old.

Passage of Time Has Dissipated Misgivings That Caused Worry.

Has Made Its Policies Respected and Aided Struggling Toiler.

WITHOUT POLITICS OR PARTY

The American Federation of Catholic Societies is now fifteen years old. It came into being because the time was ripe for it. Misgivings there were in high places and low, but the passage of years has dissipated them. If it ceased to exist today it would have to be recreated tomorrow from the same sources and for the same purposes. But Federation is looking forward. A great convention is ahead of it. What will its message be? What will it accomplish?

Federation is a conglomerate of various nationalities. One of the prime objects was to create and foster fraternity among the American Catholics of various national extraction. Progress has been made, and there will be no let-up in the endeavor to secure a higher unity of nation-wide Catholic action, not by amalgamation of constituent elements, but by co-ordination. This is true not only of organizations, but also of their various works. Autonomy in federations means an autonomy for Federalists as the doctrine of State rights in the Federal Union.

Federation has entered many fields; national and international problems have come within its scope. It has indicated the Catholic educational system and at the same time protected the public school system against some of its "guardians." It has made its policies heard and respected in many a legislature of the land, without political contamination; it has voiced Catholic thought on many phases of charitable and social work; lent its influence to the struggling toilers of the land; with a heavy hand it has smitten the agents of immorality, and the press of the country has re-echoed time and again the convictions and feelings of the mass of Catholic men and women who constitute so great a part of the American commonwealth.

A convention is a home-coming of armies in the field. The exploits of various contingents are rehearsed; new measures are devised; greater campaigns planned. Men are beginning to feel that there is a great philosophy in federation and they see emerging from the conglomerate state one organic union, paving the way to Christian democracy in America.

Responsibility comes with growth and prestige; the future will demand greater service than the past; results must be achieved commensurate with the proximate and ultimate ideals of the Catholic Federation. The problem of training federation staffs, secretaries, organizers, lecturers, correspondents, field workers will loom up larger than ever before. Eventually federation will have complete system, method, direction, and the striking efficiency of a well-knit lay organization throwing into the secular arena the wonderful power and resources of the Catholic religion. It will mean much for America in the plan of Divine redemption.

GIVEN NEW CHARGE

Rev. James J. Ryan, who has been attending the Catholic parishes at Henryville, Charlestown and Lexington, Ind., has been promoted by Bishop Chastard. Father Ryan, before taking holy orders, served in the United States navy and traveled all over the world. He took a deep interest in civic affairs, particularly in the building of good roads in Clark county. He probably will go to Indianapolis, but no announcement has yet been made of his new assignment. He will be succeeded by the Rev. Father McShane, who has been serving at St. Bernard's church, Bramm, in Martin county. Father McShane has traveled much, especially in the Holy Land and the Far East.

RADICALS

Are Always and Eternally Pushing Forward Their Peculiar Ideas.

Their Work of Converting Unbelievers Still Continues Unabated.

Catholics Should Not Become Discouraged in Their Social Endeavors.

SHOULD NOT THROW THEM ASIDE

The radical forces in this country have one redeeming feature—they never know when their propaganda has fulfilled its purpose. They keep hammering eternally at the ideas which they believe will cure the ills of the world. Set-back and defeat affect them but little; they just continue crying out the more. Of course there are a number who weaken and fall by the wayside, but the ardor of the remainder seems but slightly diminished thereby. Their work of converting the unbelievers goes on unabated.

In the New York Call of June 25, on the second page, there appears an ad whose headlines run as follows: "The present tax system is the cause of idle land, idle men, idleness, high prices and lack of business. The single tax is the cure. Our public product, the value of the land, which is caused by population, shall be taken by taxation for our public needs (police-men, firemen, school teachers, etc., etc.). leaving you private product (salary or wages) for your private needs (food, clothing, shelter, etc., etc.)."

"Single Tax Is the Cure," thus runs the story; and the Manhattan Single Tax Club has paid for its insertion. "Read Progress and Poverty," by Henry George. It advises at the conclusion of its advertisement. Now it may be well to know that five million copies of this book have already been given to the world (so we are informed by its insertion). "Read Progress and Poverty," by Henry George. It advises at the conclusion of its advertisement. Now it may be well to know that five million copies of this book have already been given to the world (so we are informed by its insertion). "Read Progress and Poverty," by Henry George. It advises at the conclusion of its advertisement. Now it may be well to know that five million copies of this book have already been given to the world (so we are informed by its insertion).

Catholics and conservatives in general ought to take a cue from this. Of course Prof. Carver has pointed out that there are disadvantages in this method of procedure also. But there is a good lesson in it for us. We should not become so easily discouraged in our altruistic and social endeavors, hauled as they are on a correct foundation. We should not throw them aside so quickly, as we are prone to do. The radicals can teach us something on this score.

IRELAND

Cabinet Postpones Settlement of Irish Question For More Discussion.

Gen. Maxwell Announces That Fifteen Rebel Leaders Have Escaped.

People of Dublin Suffering From the Lack of Proper Food.

CARSONITES COLLECTING FUNDS

Irish Press News Service.
From London it was cabled Saturday that it would be almost a week before the British Cabinet will again take up what has been called the settlement of the Irish question. It is a matter which threatened to disrupt the Ministry, so it has been postponed with the hope that a better understanding may be reached all around before the date set for another Ministerial discussion of the subject. Nobody intimately acquainted with either English or Irish politics thinks that even if the plan of Lloyd-George is adopted, which proposes to make two counties of Ireland by cutting off from the authority of whatever kind of local government may be established there six Ulster counties with approximately a third of the Irish population, it will settle the Irish question. On the contrary, the vehement denunciation of the proposed partition of Ireland by prelates, public bodies and prominent and influential people in the North as well as the South, East and West of Ireland demonstrates that it will, if put into operation, lead to more unsettled and unsatisfactory than ever. There is but a small Unionist or Orange majority in several of the Ulster counties, and in Fermanagh, Tyrone and Derry City the Nationalists are in a majority. According to the census of 1911 there were 598,220 Protestants and 597,654 Catholics in Ulster, and many Protestants are home rulers.

Irish Press News Service.
From Dublin comes news that Gen. Maxwell, commander of the British forces, has announced that fifteen rebel leaders have escaped arrest so far. Among these is Dr. Patrick McCarten, of County Tyrone, who resided in Philadelphia, returned to Ireland several years ago and studied medicine in Dublin. Shortly after the news of the revolt in Dublin reached the North of Ireland a large force of police visited the residence of Dr. McCarten's aged mother at Carrickmore, and not finding the doctor at home seized the sum of £25 which they found in the house, claiming it was "German money." For weeks the police have searched the home of the mother of Dr. McCarten every evening, with the expectation of finding him there, but they have been disappointed. After concluding the search they draw a cordon around the place for the purpose of seizing the doctor should he return to see his mother, who is not in good health.

Irish Press News Service.
During the past week sentries have been stationed at several government, municipal and public buildings in Dublin, including the gates of the City Hall, London and North-western railroad premises, British and Irish steam packet buildings, Westland row railroad station and several other places.

Irish Press News Service.
There are fully 125,000 persons in Dublin in actual want, and not less than 35,000 suffering from lack of proper food and nourishment. Gaunt and emaciated figures of men and women stalk the streets at night and the children of the tenements suffer. Hospital reports show an alarming increase in the mortality rate among infant. Various schemes have been suggested for the army of the unemployed, which is a constant menace to the peace and welfare of the Irish capital, but the Government seems to have no definite plan and the City Corporation is too poor to provide new appropriations.

Irish Press News Service.
The wholesale executions, arrests, sentences and deportations of the past few weeks have had no terrors for five Dublin boys, who got possession of a British Union Jack, the property of T. Gardner, of Clarendon street, and made a bonfire of it. In the Police Court the boys, whose names are William Fox, Leo Croke, William Smythe, Peter Pearson and James P. Miller, were tried for the destruction of the British flag. The four last named, who were identified as having destroyed the Union Jack, were sent to a reformatory and the first named boy was remanded.

Irish Press News Service.
While the Irish Volunteers' organization is under the ban of the British Government, the Ulster or Carson Volunteers, who defied the Government a couple of years ago and threatened to revolt if home rule was put into operation, are busy collecting funds, probably for purchase of more arms and ammunition. On June 27 the Carsonites' fund had reached $85,000.

BARBECUE AND PICNIC

The people of St. Paul's church, Jackson and Kentucky, are making great preparations for their grand barbecue and picnic, to take place at Woodland Park, on Preston, near Kentucky, on Tuesday, July 25, the proceeds of which will be for the benefit of the new home for the Sisters in St. Paul's school. It is hardly necessary to say a word about this affair. Those who have attended the celebrations heretofore are certain to go again, and those who have never taken part have missed a most delightful method of enjoyment. A programme which will prove attractive to all visitors, variety being a prime feature, has been prepared. There will be good music, lotto and euchre, an excellent dinner and supper and some surprises. By all means go out to Woodland Park on July 25. You will be heartily welcome and are bound to enjoy yourself.

SERVICES FOR SOLDIERS

Last Sunday, on the eve of their departure for Fort Thomas, a special service for the members of Company K, of Shelbyville, was held at the Church of the Annunciation by Father John H. Riley, who made a stirring, patriotic speech to the boys who will go to Mexico. Father Riley reminded the militiamen that the United States is not waging a war of conquest or revenge, but was going into Mexican affairs in the interest of peace and order. He expressed his confidence that the people of the community appreciated the sacrifice they were making and would always respect them for the step they had taken.

INTERCEDE FOR CASEMENT

Efforts to save the life of Sir Roger Casement, sentenced to be hanged in England for his activity in the recent Sinn Féin outbreak in Ireland, are being made by Senator Ollie M. James. Mrs. Agnes Newman, of Philadelphia, sister of the Irish revolutionist, called on the Kentuckian to solicit his aid in attempting to obtain through the State Department a commutation of the death sentence imposed on her brother. Although he explained to Mrs. Newman his inability to assure her that he could be the means of saving the life of Sir Roger Casement, Senator James, who is greatly interested in the case, made good on Saturday his promise to take up the matter with the State Department. Senator James made strong appeals to the President and to the Secretary of State in his attempt to bring about either a new trial for Sir Roger Casement or a stay of execution.

NATIONAL REPRESENTATIVE

W. J. Moriarty, agent and representative of the National Supreme Board of the Knights of Columbus, will be the guest of Louisville Council at its meeting next Wednesday evening and the officers of the council request a good attendance of the members, as Mr. Moriarty's talk on the activities and progress of the order throughout the United States will doubtless prove interesting.

DEMOCRATS'

Chances For Success Being Injured by Tactics of Democratic Press.

Anti-German-American Policy Driving Substantial Support Out of Party.

Campaign Chairman Cantrill's Appeal Indicates Close Race in Kentucky.

SHERIFF CRONAN FOR MAYOR

Attention was called in these columns recently to the fact that the policy pursued by some of our Democratic papers was injurious to the success of the Democratic party and that the daily insults by editorial and cartoon were serving to drive the German-American voter into the Republican camp. In his opening statement on Thursday Congressman J. C. Cantrill in reference to this question said in part:

"The Republicans in Kentucky are in high glee because they expect the support of the voters of German extraction. This is an open insult to the intelligence and patriotism of the voters in Kentucky of German descent. I know many of these men and they are as patriotic as any class of our citizens, and I certainly expect the support of those who have been Democrats heretofore and of those who love the flag of the Stars and Stripes better than any other flag. I certainly would not insult the patriotism of the voters of German descent by even conceding that any proportion of them in Kentucky expected to vote the Republican ticket this fall."

Despite this appeal of Chairman Cantrill the local pro-British press continues to insult the German-American Democratic voter, the Louisville Times publishing a cartoon with Hughes, Roosevelt and the Kaiser as bedfellows in the same issue with the Campaign Chairman's appeal to the German-American voter. The last campaign in this State was disastrously mismanaged through the efforts of those in charge bargaining with a lot of self-appointed labor leaders and walking delegates to have the labor vote delivered to Stedley, the Kentucky Irish American warning the campaign managers in advance that this was a mistaken policy, as there is no such commodity as a labor vote, and least of all can it be delivered by the walking delegates who are always ready to publish their indorsement of those who are candidates at so much per. Now a warning word in this campaign. The Knownothing attitude of some of the Democratic press will drive the German-American vote into solid support of the Republican party. That none can be spared is evidenced by another statement of Chairman Cantrill as follows:

"I feel that it is my duty to lay some plain facts before the Democrats of Kentucky. The votes are actually cast for the last twenty years show that Kentucky is a very close State politically. At the outset I wish to warn my Democratic brethren of overconfidence."

The Louisville Times and Cincinnati Enquirer published in this past week that Sheriff Charley Cronan was being mentioned for Mayor, this being published in the Kentucky Irish American over a month ago with the note appended that in 1913 running for office the first time he led the other first starters for city and county offices. Another indication of Mr. Cronan's political strength is shown by comparison with the vote of County Attorney Sullivan, 25,227, only thirty-six votes difference. Two other probable candidates are Mr. McMane, who has a good following, and J. G. Caldwell, present Chairman of the Board of Works, whom it is rumored will be supported by his close friend and backer, Gen. W. B. Haldeman.

As we go to press the appointment of a successor to succeed Will Holley as Police Court Clerk had not been announced, the names of Thomas O'Connell, William Dennis, Harry Nehan, Clay Hall and Harry T. Colgan having been mentioned. The appointment to be made by Judge Boldrick, of the Police Court, will only hold until the November election and naturally his selection will have to be confirmed by the City and County Democratic Committee.

IMPORTANT MEETING

At the meeting of the local Catholic Federation to be held at the Knights of Columbus hall next Thursday evening, delegates will be elected to the national convention which is to be held in New York City, August 20-24. The officers of the local federation urge every delegate to try and be present at this important session.

The Kentucky Irish American mourns the death of Sister Aurea, who for years had been its true friend. May her heavenly reward be commensurate with the holy and exemplary life she led here on earth.

CATHOLIC POSITION.

Among the resolutions adopted by the Catholic Educational Association at its convention in Baltimore last week was one declaring that the American Catholic school system stands for thorough-going and complete Americanism with undivided allegiance to our country from all, whatever sympathies they may legitimately entertain for the land of their ancestors. This is the spirit of our Catholic people as well as of our schools, and any individual deviation from it is an injury to Church and State.

GENEROUS AMERICA.

We are so often called, says the Catholic Advance, a nation of money grabbers, that it might not be unprofitable to take a look at the other side of the picture. After two years we are able to declare that Americans have done far more than all other nationals of the world combined in deeds of humanity and philanthropy for the victims of the European war. We have been generous and even prodigal in extending aid to the wretched sufferers among the civil population in those areas that have been devastated. On the battlefield and in military hospitals the American Red Cross and other organizations supported by private contributions have been conspicuous in the work of relief to the wounded. Money has been poured like water into the treasuries of these noble enterprises. American men and women have devoted themselves in large numbers as nurses and surgeons and in other useful capacities, untiringly and unselfishly.

Never in the world's history can be found anything to compare with the record the American people have been making in this respect since the war began. Not only have they given up millions freely and ungrudgingly, but in their devotion to their self-imposed tasks many have sacrificed their lives. All this has been done without expectation or hope of reward, out of sympathy for suffering human kind and for the satisfaction that accrues from worthy work well performed. The good work still goes on. As a contemporary points out, there are at the present time fourteen public funds to which the people of the United States are contributing with unbounded generosity, besides the mail bags of private money orders that go from this side of the water to relatives abroad. It is estimated that the money given to these public funds exceeds twenty-five millions. The Red Cross on battlefields and in hospitals is supported for the most part by American money. The best of it is the money being spent judiciously and honestly, so that American contributors may feel that their donations reach the sufferers, which could not always be said when, in times past, the money of our own people has been freely given to help afflicted American cities.

MUST NOT KILL.

Sir Roger Casement has been convicted. In the eye of the law, by the verdict of the jury and the sentence of the court, he is a traitor to the realm, an enemy of the King and a forsworn villain who must die the death of shame on the abhorrent gallows. In the supreme court of the future that verdict will be reversed and that sentence set aside. At the judgment bar of history, this felon, now condemned to die for a most high crime, will be hailed as a hero and a martyr. He will take his honored place with Emmet and with John Brown and the others of the innumerable company of just men who, in all ages and in many lands, have gone through paths of hatred, scorn and death to the bright goal of immortal renown and the increasing applause of mankind.

As it was with Emmet, so was it with Casement. His condemnation was assured before he was arraigned, and all that was left to him was to take advantage of the forms of the law and the established procedure of the courts of England to make his defense at the bar of public opinion and his appeal to the verdict of the ages. That defense and that appeal he made in an address whose energy and pathos must elicit the sympathy and the admiration of every good and right thinking man in the world. The result of that appeal to the present judgment of mankind and to the future is foregone. The prisoner at the bar is acquitted and goes forth to meet the applause of the wise and virtuous in all countries and the deathless honor and affection of the Irish people till the last generation shall have been born on the soil of Erin.

But there is another angle of vision. The student of contemporary history will ask himself what effect the trial and condemnation and eloquent defense of Sir Roger Casement must have upon England, and what should be the comportment of liberty-loving Englishmen toward this martyr of liberty, who risked all that England might do justice to the people of Ireland.

Thus the New York American expresses itself, and likewise many other papers not under British influence.

Fifty-one divorces were granted in the Jefferson Circuit Court last week. This does not reflect any credit upon Louisville society. The divorce evil grows here and the wrecked homes are found everywhere. When will the State legislate for better conditions and abate this terrible evil?

The hearing of the appeal of Sir Roger Casement, who on June 29 was found guilty of high treason and sentenced to death for complicity in the Irish rebellion, has been fixed for July 17.

INTO HEAVENLY REST.

God has called into heavenly rest Sister Aurea O'Brien, Mother Superior of St. Joseph's Infirmary, who had spent her life in religion and for forty-six years had been the loyal and devoted friend of the sick and injured. By her death the Sisters of Charity, the city and State, suffer a distinct loss. Sister Aurea was born in County Cork, Ireland, seventy years ago, coming to this country in her twentieth year. For a time she lived at Frankfort. Deciding to devote her life to the religious state she entered the novitiate of the Sisters of Charity at the motherhouse, near Bardonia, when twenty-one years old. She was professed forty-seven years ago, and the following year sent as a nurse to the old St. Joseph's Infirmary, her only mission. Sixteen years later she was made Mother Superior of the hospital. Her administration was such that St. Joseph's was soon recognized by the medical profession one of the finest hospitals in the South. Sister Aurea had a wide acquaintance among the leading members of the American medical profession as well as the clergy and the prominent men and women of the city and State, many of whom she had nursed to health. She was noted for her kindly disposition and keen humor. Sister Aurea possessed such humility that strangers coming to the hospital never suspected she was the Superior. She was so beloved by the Sisters under her rule that they insisted from year to year that the authorities of the order return her as head of the St. Joseph community. When her death was announced there was not a dry eye among all the Sisters at the hospital, who mourn for their Superior as a mother. One of them said: "Only she and God know the extent of her charity, her good works, her piety and loyalty to her religious vows renouncing everything for the service of her Master." Besides receiving and caring for thousands of the poor sick and injured it is known that Sister Aurea caused hundreds of poor men, women and children to be cared for at the hospital during the rigors of every winter. She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Kate Ryan, of this city, and two brothers, Michael and Thomas O'Brien, of Medford, Mass. The remains were taken to Nazareth, accompanied by many of the clergy and leading citizens, the funeral taking place in the Sisters' chapel. Very Rev. James P. Cronin celebrated the requiem high mass, the burial being in the little community graveyard near the convent.

ST. PATRICK'S.

The ladies of St. Patrick's congregation will give another of their delightful card parties Monday evening in the old school hall at Thirtieth and Market, with euchre and lotto as features. Hostesses for the evening will be Mesdames Maggie Corrick, Catherine Cusick, Rose Francis, George D. Badger and J. Edward Bartley.

CATHOLIC COLONELS.

Naturally much interest centers in the Missouri militia now encamped at Nevada. It is a rather significant fact that out of four Colonels three are Catholics, these being Colo. Donnelly of St. Louis, Kealy of Kansas City and J. D. McNeely of St. Joseph. Adjutant Maj. Gen. John B. O'Meara, of St. Louis, is also a Catholic, being a brother of a former Superior of the Sacred Heart Convent at St. Joseph.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

The Hibernian Social Club realized a nice sum from their recent lawn euchre and lotto.
 San Diego is preparing for the biggest State convention the order ever held in California.
 San Francisco Hibernians are making an aggressive campaign to secure the 1918 convention.
 The big event of the Fourth in Boston was the Hibernian field day carnival at the National League baseball grounds.

The meeting of Division 4 will be held next Tuesday evening instead of Monday on account of the Dominican church picnic.
 Mrs. John Arthur, Indiana State President of the Ladies' Auxiliary, would be an excellent addition to the National Directorate.

Division 3 of Rome, N. Y., enjoyed a banquet as a result of the membership contest, which closed with fifty-one candidates.
 Every military company in California was invited to compete in the military tournament and field day of the San Francisco Hibernian Rifles.

A big night parade and entertainment, banquet and grand ball will be features of the Ohio State convention at Zanesville, which will last three days.

The Hibernians of Rome, N. Y., presented the Boy Scouts with a handsome American flag, Rev. P. A. Kelly accepting for the scouts. Father Kelly is Scoutmaster.

New Albany Hibernians and the Ladies' Auxiliary have begun making arrangements for their annual reunion and picnic, which will be held at Glenwood Park on August 16.

The flag of the Irish republic, presented Mrs. O'Donovan Rossa on the occasion of her husband's funeral in Dublin, will float over the convention headquarters at Boston.

MOBILE'S PROTEST.

Shooting of the leaders of the Dublin uprising by the English Government on May 3, after having promised their protection as prisoners of war, was condemned and protested against as "wanton brutality" by a mass meeting of many citizens of Mobile on Americans in the Lyric Theater Monday night. The meeting, which was called by the Ancient Order of Hibernians, was largely attended, and much patriotic sympathy for Ireland was shown. George J. Sullivan presided. After addresses by Father Joseph V. Molloy, of the Cathedral parish, and William H. Ambrosch, former United States District Attorney, and several musical selections, resolutions were introduced by John C. O'Connell and unanimously passed. A collection for the support of the widows and orphans of the Irish dead was taken as the assembly passed out. When Father Molloy was introduced he was given a great ovation. Those who had charge of the arrangements were Rev. T. J. Eaton, J. E. McHugh, W. J. Armstrong, John A. Hughes, J. A. Ryan and M. T. Judge.

GOOD TOBACCO YEAR.

Thomas Cook, of Taylorsville, the well known farmer and tobacco buyer of Taylorsville, was here this week and reported that this has been a banner year in the tobacco line and that it had been one of the best in his career. Mr. Cook is one of the leading Democrats in his section and is thoroughly conversant with the present political situation, his predictions on the coming national race being verified from the present outlook. Before going home Mr. Cook visited his brother, L. J. Cook, at Brooksville, for a few days.

ATTRACTIVE FEATURE.

One of the attractive features of the entertainment that will be provided for the visitors at the Summer convention of the Knights of Columbus in Davenport, Iowa, will be furnished by the celebrated Knights of Columbus Choral Club of St. Louis. This unique singing organization, the only one of its kind within the order, has been engaged to take a prominent part in several of the musical offerings that will stand out prominently in the four days' programme. The singers appear in concerts in their white serge uniforms, presenting a magnificent appearance, and they also have a marching club that brings them additional attention from an interested public.

GOOD MAN GONE.

William E. Holley, Clerk of the Police Court and one of the most popular men in Louisville, died early Tuesday morning at St. Joseph's Infirmary, following an illness of only a few days of peritonitis. He was the son of the late Patrick Holley and was thirty-six years old and unmarried. Will Holley's death came as a shock to his legions of friends throughout the city and in Police Court circles caused deep gloom. One of St. Joseph's Infirmary, the deceased completed his education at St. Xavier's College, from where he went to the Louisville & Nashville railroad, where his meritorious work caused his promotion to Chief Clerk of the Auditor's office. Re-signing in 1907 to enter the political game, he was successful and in 1913 was elected Clerk of the Police Court, and since was looked upon as one of the most influential of the younger politicians of the city. He was noted for his acts of charity and his willingness at all times to favor anyone seeking his assistance. He was a member of the Moose Green Club, Knights of Columbus, Columbia Athletic Club, St. Vincent De Paul Society of St. Charles, Borromeo church, the Twelfth Ward Democratic Club and the Social Democratic Club of the Fourth and Fifth wards. Surviving him are his sister, Mrs. Charles Rieger, with whom he made his home; a half sister, Mrs. Ella Cawthon; a half brother, Michael Holley, and a number of other relatives.

The funeral was held Thursday morning from St. Charles church, which was thronged with people from all parts of the city and all walks of life. Rev. Father Raffo celebrated the requiem mass, and in his funeral discourse paid feeling tribute to the life and works of the deceased who was true to his friends and loyal to his church.

K. OF C. ENTERTAINMENTS.

The local council Knights of Columbus will hold a smoker for the members next Wednesday evening, and on Thursday evening, July 27, there will be a euchre, lotto and 500 party at Senning's Park for the benefit of the members and their families or company.

CATHOLIC CHARITIES.

At the National Conference of Catholic Charities, which will be held in Washington, D. C., on September 17, 18, 19 and 20, the sermon at the opening of the conference will be preached by Bishop Thien, of Lincoln, Neb.

CALLED TO COLORS.

Reports from various cities show that more than 1,000 members of the Knights of St. John have been called to the national colors, to serve in the impending trouble with Mexico with the militia of their home States.

WORLD'S HIGHEST CROSS.

The highest cross in the world will soon be taken down and replaced by a new one. The cross on the steeple of the Annunciation church at Leadville, Col., is called the highest cross in the world because, besides standing 161 feet from the ground, it is situated in the highest incorporated town in the world.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Late News That Will Interest Members Here and Elsewhere.

The new council at Jackson, Cal., starts well.

The Kansas membership now totals nearly 7,000.

Omaha Knights will give the orphans of that city a picnic.

Colorado Springs is preparing for the State convention to be held there next May.

Many councils will pay the dues and insurance of members who are going to the front.

The Knights of Omaha are busy arranging for a big increase in membership in October.

The Knights of Fond du Lac, Wis., will erect a $65,000 club house on Sheboygan street.

Denver Knights are organizing a company to be ready to respond to the first call for volunteers.

Seventy-eight candidates became members last month at Waterloo, Iowa, the largest class for several years.

The council at San Mateo, Cal., is making fine progress. Last month forty candidates were given the major degree.

The Knights of Albion, Neb., had a most enjoyable time and initiation when fifty-five candidates were given three degrees.

Kansas Knights are looking after the establishment of fraternity centers for Catholic students at Lawrence and Manhattan.

A special feature of the Fourth of July picnic at Denver was the ball game between priest and lawyer members of the council.

The only celebration at Utica, N. Y., on the Fourth, was held by the Knights, who secured a band and gave a concert and fireworks display on the club house grounds, the public being admitted free.

GARRITY HELPS CHARITY.

A document was filed recently in the County Clerk's office at Corsicana, Texas, in which Capt. James Garrity, of that city, sets apart out of his estate a "public charity fund of $100,000 in cash, to be used for the relief, betterment and improvement of any indigent poor persons residing in Navarro county, who are worthy objects of charity, to be selected by the trustees, hereafter named, without regard to race, color, sex or religious belief." It is required that the trustees shall "keep the funds invested in revenue-bearing real estate or interest-bearing securities, or in State, county, city or district bonds," etc.

HINTS ON STYLE.

Many pretty organdy frocks are lightly beaded.

Pale pink is everywhere in millinery as in frocks.

Net rivals organdy in summer lightness and modishness.

The big summer hats this season seem unusually successful.

Leghorn is much used and bent into all sorts of graceful hat shapes.

Pink organdies are particularly delectable and once more favored with Parisian fashion makers.

Early fall serges and light weight wools are appearing, and they are splendid for coats of any and all kinds.

Sleeves are developing unending tendencies with the season's progress. They are all lengths and flare, puff, droop, flow and cling.

Quaint mantlets that give a most unusual touch to the simple summer costume are one of the season's most fascinating developments.

Taffetas are now epidemic.

Most delightful morning frocks are made up in tub silks, and with careful laundering they are not extravagant.

TWIN CITY LEAGUE.

The two leading teams in the Twin City Baseball League, the K. of C. and Champs, who are tied for first place, had no trouble Sunday, the Knights beating the Orioles 8 to 1. The East End boys having an off day in the field, while the Champs jumped on the Stitzelburg pitchers for twenty-one hits—winning by an 18 to 3 score. Bertrands stopped the fast coming Olympics in a twelve-inning game, 13 to 12. Trinity says the Mackin team the surprise of their life, only losing by one run, the final score being 4 to 3. Tomorrow they will play as follows: Orioles vs. Champs, Olympics vs. Mackin, Bertrands vs. K. of C. and Trinity vs. Imperials.

The games of Sunday, July 16, which were postponed as tribute to Owner Wathen and the Louisville club, will be played September 6 in a double-header, the same teams meeting that date. Standing to date:

Clubs	W.	L.	Pct.
Champs	10	2	.833
Mackin	7	5	.583
Olympics	6	6	.500
Bertrands	6	6	.500
Imperials	5	7	.417
Orioles	4	8	.333
Trinity	4	12	.000

"Preparedness" seems to be the motto of Ray Haragan's friends in the World's Series Popularity Contest for the members of the Twin City League, as they are rolling up a big vote for their favorite as a safeguard in the final counting. Little campaign committees are being formed by the friends of different league members and a canvass is being made for both subscription and ballot votes. Substantial increases were made this week in the votes of Eddie Stelnbock, the scorer; Bob Morris, of Mackin, and "Red" Killoran, of the Orioles. It is a foregone conclusion that the National League pennant winners will be Brooklyn, Philadelphia or Boston, the two winners thus being assured of a trip to the "Great White Way" with all expenses paid. This is the trip of a lifetime for any ball player or fan and there are thousands from Maine to California who would make any sacrifice for this opportunity. Get busy and do your voting as over half the ball season is gone. Here is the standing to date, exclusive of clipped ballots:

Haragan, Bertrands	290
Stelnbock, scorer	80
Killoran, Orioles	80
Dalton, Olympics	60

HOT BASEBALL SERIES.

The series beginning today between Louisville and Minneapolis promises to settle the standing of those two teams in the first division for some time at least, as there are six games scheduled, a regularly scheduled double-header being on the card for tomorrow and one for Tuesday, so arranged on account of postponement of a game with the Cantillon tribe on their last visit here. Louisville is also seeking revenge for the four games lost in Minneapolis on the recent Western trip, the four all being lost by one run, this disastrous series keeping them out of first or second place. It was stated in these columns early in the season that Minneapolis was the chief pennant contender for the Colonels to be wary of, and there is no reason now to change that prediction. Kansas City is beginning to stir, and Indianapolis could only take two out of six in the recent series here when Louisville was in the worst hitting slump of the year. Part of this slump was due to the loss of Daniels, which is realized by the fans. At the same time they know that Owner Wathen is not sparing any expense to fill that breach. During this home stay the fans, male and female, should rally to the support of the club as a return for the efforts of the management to put the town on the map with a pennant winner.

OUTLINE OF SCHEME.

The complete details of Lloyd George's scheme for provisional home rule for Ireland were published in the London morning papers on Thursday. The following are the principal features:

First—An Irish House of Commons will be constituted by the transference to the Irish Parliament of seventy-eight members now sitting in the English Commons for the twenty-six home rule counties. (The total Irish representation in the Imperial House of Commons is 103, of which twenty-five members sit for the six Ulster counties provisionally excluded from home rule.)

Second—Of the seventy-eight members to be transferred to the Irish House seventy-six are Nationalists or Independents, while two are Unionists, namely, Sir Edward Carson and J. H. M. Campbell, Attorney General for Ireland. These two members represent Trinity College, Dublin. They have both consented to sit in the home rule Parliament and on this fact some hopes are based for future amity.

Third—Members of the Irish Commons will retain their seats in the English House and will often be seen there, as the Irish body is not expected to have much business to transact at first.

Fourth—Considerable representation of the Unionist interests in the south and west of Ireland will be provided through the nomination of their representatives to the Irish Senate. It is proposed that the Senate sit and act with the Irish Commons during the temporary settlement, thus safeguarding the interests of the Unionists.

Fifth—The temporary settlement is to continue until one year after the termination of the war. At that time the whole arrangement will come under the review of the great Imperial conference which is to be held to adjust the government of the empire.

SETTLES ALL CONTENTION.

Many followers of amateur baseball have been a little puzzled over the proper governing power and rules in baseball, but the following article clears the situation and is self-explanatory.

What city, town or village in this great country is going to win the distinction and honor this year of producing the world's amateur baseball champion team? At present there are over 100 cities and towns from Maine to California and from Canada to the Gulf having organized amateur leagues with an enrolled playing membership exceeding the 100,000 mark. The National Baseball Federation has arranged two championship series, Class AA and Class A—one strictly for amateurs and one for semi-professionals. Class A division comprises straight-out amateurs, Class AA semi-professional players. The definition of class A eligibles is one who receives no salary for services rendered for his services as a player during the current season. Class AA is one who does not earn a livelihood by his services as a player but who plays an occasional game for pay. Under these classifications the amateur is protected from having to compete with the semi-pro and the semi-pro is safeguarded from professional competition.

Chicago, Cleveland, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Toledo, Dayton, Birmingham and Louisville are among the cities already enrolled. Applications for membership from others are being received right along. The elimination series start September 2. Sectional series will be arranged for the start of the tourney, the winners to meet in the semi-finals and finals. Chambers of commerce, park boards, recreation bodies, baseball associations and individuals are supporting the movement in the different cities affiliated with the National Baseball Federation. The National Baseball Federation solved the problem of what has been the bone of contention in national amateur circles when it classed the amateur as semi-pro and provided elimination series for both. The officers of the National Baseball Federation are President, C. C. Townes, Cleveland; First Vice President, C. W. Stuir, Cincinnati; Second Vice President, R. H. Abeken, St. Louis; Secretary-Treasurer, Tom Nokes, Johnston; Executive Committee, W. B. Bickford, Chicago; Sam Karpf, Dayton, and W. D. Gresham, Birmingham.

DIES IN KANSAS.

Barney Coll, of Jeffersonville, received a telegram Monday bringing the sad news of the death of his cousin, Mrs. Annie Palmer, wife of Henry Palmer, at Wichita, Kas. She was the daughter of Patrick Herron, a former prominent merchant of Jeffersonville, and with her husband located in the West twenty-five years ago.

BIG PARISH PICNIC.

Everything is completed for the big parish picnic to be given by St. Louis Bertrand's church Monday at Fern Grove and a banner crowd is expected, not only from those residing in the parish but the former members and residents of that section, who have been specially invited to meet their old friends and acquaintances on that day, the picnic being intended as a sort of reunion and home-coming. Amusements of all kinds will be on the programme, the feature of the day being a baseball game between the Bertrands and Knights of Columbus teams of the Twin City League. Manager Ray Haragan will pilot the Bertrands, while Manager Toni Clines will lead the Knights. This game will be called immediately on the arrival of the afternoon boat. In addition there will be games of all kinds, for young and old, these to start at 1:30 sharp. Boats will leave foot of First street at 9 and 1:30 sharp, and returning will leave the grove at 5 and 8 p. m. Collins' orchestra will furnish the music during the day.

FONTAINE FERRY.

One of the fairest daughters of Nippon will be in our midst next week in the person of Mme. Sumiko San, the famous little Japanese prima donna who is booked to headline the week's bill in the theater at Fontaine Ferry Park. In addition to her American triumphs, Mme. Sumiko has the distinction of having been the first prima donna mezzo soprano of the Imperial Theater in Tokio. In her act she will be assisted by four Japanese dancing girls. She sings in both English and her native tongue and her performance is concluded by her original interpretation of American ragtime. The big sanitary swimming pool at the park is breaking all records for attendance. Both the morning and afternoon sessions are being taxed to capacity and the sanitary condition in which the pool is kept safeguards swimmers against infections resulting from unsanitary water. A balloon matinee will again be given the children Saturday. Every child attending the matinee performance in the theater on the day will be presented with a durable toy balloon.

KNIGHTS ARE WORKING.

The excursion to be given by the Catholic Knights of America on July 30 to Jasper and Ferdinand, Ind., promises to be a most enjoyable affair. All members of the various committees are working strenuously toward the one point—to make this excursion the largest and most successful ever run from this city. A hearty welcome awaits all who make the trip.
